

Richard Fleischman & Associates and Risk Control Strategies Partner to Deliver Best-in-Class Threat Management and Security

October 17, 2007

Richard Fleischman & Associates (RFA) and Risk Control Strategies (RCS) have partnered to offer high net-worth clients, hedge funds and financial service providers with comprehensive threat management and security solutions from both an IT level (disaster recover and business continuity) and a corporate security level (investigation and crisis containment) to minimize corporate risk.

New York, NY (PRWEB) October 17, 2007 -- Richard Fleischman & Associates (<http://www.rfa.com/>) (RFA), a leader in outsourced IT solutions and the trusted advisor to more than 400 hedge funds and private equity firms and Risk Control Strategies (<http://www.riskcontrolstrategies.com/>) (RCS), a leading threat management and risk assessment security consulting firm, today announced the formation of an exclusive partnership. The alliance pairs the two top providers of risk management services and offers high net-worth clients, hedge funds and financial service providers comprehensive threat management solutions to minimize corporate risk.

Under the terms of the agreement, RFA provides a full suite of BCP/DR and threat management capabilities (<http://www.rfa.com/default.asp?view=capabilities>) to help manage and mitigate operational risk. RCS's threat management, investigations, security and crisis containment expertise offer clients an added level of corporate security including executive protection, investigative due-diligence, incident avoidance strategies and incident mitigation services.

Security Services Provide Clients With Greater Peace of Mind

The partnership provides customers with a full breadth of security solutions for a greater peace of mind. Because each client's situation is unique, RFA (<http://www.rfa.com/>) and RCS (<http://www.riskcontrolstrategies.com/>) will provide value-added, pass-through services that are completely customized.

"Risk Control Strategies understands the importance of meeting its customer's needs for best-in-class, comprehensive security services," said Paul Michael Viollis Sr., Ph.D., CEO of Risk Control Strategies. "We consider RFA to be a firm of great integrity and established credibility in the hedge fund space, whose expertise is only surpassed by their character."

"The partnership between RFA and RCS offers clients a complete risk management solution. The proven experience of both companies in threat management and risk assessment mitigation assures that our client's security needs are met -- from both an IT level and corporate security level," said Richard Fleischman, president of RFA. "The new joint offering brings high net-worth clients an increased peace of mind so they can focus on the handling the more important details of running their businesses."
